The money center of London is the "city," which is the heart of England's capital. In its square mile of territory are great stores of wealth. Its population during hours of business is more than 1,000,000. During the night the number of its residents is insignificant. The money center of New York is this Wall Street district. It is of much smaller area than London's "city," but possesses the same characteristics—crowded by day and almost empty by night.

Curtis Howell was run over by a Detroit Southern and engine at Jackson, and instantly killed.
The mutilated body of W. T. Larick, of Glenwood, was found east of Caldwell. He was killed by a train.
Charles Koch, aged 34, of Danbury, was run over and instantly killed by a Lake Shore train at Point Clinton.
John Groll, aged 30, and a resident of Richland Township, Marion County, was kicked in the face by a horse, and died in a few moments.
James Thies, aged 60 years, foreman of a gang at the Big Four shops at Bellefontaine, slipped while at work. He fell on his head and died instantly.
The dead body of Beecher Taylor was found at an N. and W. Railroad crossing, Chillicothe. He had been struck by a train. Taylor lived at Lyndon.
The dead body of a young schoolboy named Ansell was found lying along the tracks of the Z. & W. Railroad near Sayre. It is presumed that he started to steal a ride home.
Joseph Shipley, his wife and daughter were thrown from their buggy at Marysville, and Mrs. Shipley sustained fatal injuries. The daughter also sustained serious injuries.
The general store and postoffice of John Hillier, at Webb's Summit, near Logan, was entered by burglars. The postoffice receipts were stolen and goods valued at $100 taken from the store.
Dr. H. H. Smith of Bucyrus, has received an appointment as Assistant General Surgeon in the Ohio National Guard, with the rank of Captain. Dr. Smith has been assigned to service with the Eighth Ohio.
Hanson Fitzgerald, aged 70, was found dead in front of his home on W. H. Fifth street, near Big Plain, recently. He was a resident of Indiana and was on a visit to relatives. Heart disease was the cause of death.
Anson Norton, aged 75, died at Kenton, recently. He was a prominent woodworker and banker. His death was caused by Hodgkins disease, which is somewhat rare, consisting of a gradual hardening of the glands.
Frank Angstadt of Warren, has sued Freeman Woodruff of Conneaut, for libel. Angstadt alleged that Woodruff was shot in the wrist by Woodruff while on a hunting expedition in Ontario last fall, and that he has been permanently injured.
Smith Bennett of the Attorney-General's office, has given out a ruling in which he holds that members of Boards of Health are not affected by the new code until their terms of office expire, and then their successors are to be appointed by the Mayor.
One man was killed and $12,000 damage was done by a fire at East Liverpool. The fire partially destroyed the plant of the East Liverpool Sagger Company, owned and operated by J. T. Crouxall and Alex. McFane, manufacturers of pottery's supplies. A perfect diamond, each no bigger than the head of a pin. "I'll tell you how you can make these things your self. You put in a jar an equal weight of carbon sulphide and of phosphorus being sure that both of these substances are as pure as possible. Fill the jar then with water. The water will float on the top of the jar and will prevent the sulphide from turning to vapor and catching fire. Place the jar in a quiet place, and leave it alone for six months. During that space of time the sulphur of the sulphides will combine and release the carbon, which will fall to the bottom of the jar and crystallize into perfect diamonds. Follow these directions and you, like me, can conduct a diamond farm upon your own mantelpiece."
At the Melodrama.
"You make my blood boil!" cried the beautiful heroine, retreating her steps. "Just the thing to kill my germs," hissed the dark villain; "in fact, that is what he would water for!"—Chicago News.

How an abscess in the Fallopian Tubes of Mrs. Hollinger was removed without a surgical operation.

"I had an abscess in my side in the fallopian tube (the fallopian tube is a connection of the ovaries). I suffered untold misery and was so weak I could scarcely get around. The sharp burning pains low down in my side were terrible. My physician said there was no help for me unless I would go to the hospital and be operated on. I thought before that I would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which, fortunately, I did, and it has made me a stout, healthy woman. My advice to all women who suffer with any kind of female trouble is to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once."—Mrs. IRE S. HOLLINGER, Stillville, Ohio.—$5000 reward for original of above letter, and no reward for copy.
It would seem by this statement that women would save time and much sickness if they would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and also write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helps. No other person can give such helpful advice as Mrs. Pinkham to women who are sick.

FUNSTON'S AESTHETIC SENSE.

Hubbed Off Sign Painter's Marks from Colorado Boulder.
Estes Park, Colorado, one of the many Meccas for the tourists in that picturesque State, bears upon its face some rather singular mementoes of a visit some years ago from General Funston. They show that the man of military prowess may also possess the artist's sensitiveness to the aesthetic in the inanimate.
Estes Park is a beautiful spot, and the General, who is an enthusiast upon natural scenery, found every prospect pleasing until one day, rising along a thread of mountain road, he espied upon a large looming crag, a great painted advertisement, which proclaimed, in more colors than the American flag boasts, the merits of a certain soap.
Funston stopped his horse short. "The dash-dashed-dashed wretch!" he burst out, shaking his fist at the absent perpetrator of this crime of a paint brush. Then he rode on a little way, only to encounter more and bigger advertisements of the same soap. From the sheer of a precipice, from the side of a huge rock on the wall of a canyon they impudently defied the fitness of things and General Funston, who each time stopped to curse the artist who, as the freshness of his handwork proved, was only a little in advance of him. Funston called out to passerby, when he had six miles of this sort of things.
"Do you see that?" shouted the enraged general. "Isn't that an outrage on the face of nature? I warn that painter I intend to lick him on sight."
The funniest part of the episode was that the painter, who heard of the threat, evidently believed him, for he left that part of the country and perpetrated no more signs. The next funniest part was that the general returned with a week's labor of his own hands, with acids paid for out of his own pocket, the signs which had so excited his ire. It is said that on Boulder slides, where the paint was laid on heaviest, and the acids were poured, dim traces, like ghosts of old signs, of the defacing legends, still remain.—Philadelphia Press.

Only Thing to Do.

"I am satisfied, your honor," said the prosecuting attorney, "that the prisoner really did not know the pistol was loaded."
"Yet he pointed it at his friend?" suggested the judge.
"Yes."
"And pulled the trigger?"
"Yes."
"And the friend is now carrying his arm in a sling in consequence?"
"Well," said the judge, "if it was entirely unintentional I do not see how we can very well send him to the penitentiary, but it seems to me we could do him a very little better in putting him in an idiot asylum."—Chicago Evening Post.

PROSPERITY IN CANADA.

The Farmer in Western Canada Achieves Wonderful Success.

One of the first things that the man who wishes to change his residence endeavors to find out is where he can go and succeed. It need be a matter of little doubt or indecision now. During the past four or five years the development of Western Canada has been so rapid, and the conditions of life there so widely known, that upwards of 100,000 Americans have taken up their homes there, and the experience of these people is that they are thoroughly satisfied with their choice of home.

The methods of farming there are similar to those adopted in the United States, but the operations are simpler, the yield of grain greater, and the profits more satisfactory. Raising is carried on with lots of success. Mixed farming is always profitable, while the results in grain-raising are as certain as splendid soil, excellent climate and a number of skin tumors—small ones—on my arms which had never given me serious trouble; but about two years ago one came on my throat. At first it was only about as large as a pinhead, but as it was in a position where my collar, if not just right, would irritate it, it soon became very sensitive and began to grow rapidly. Last spring it was as large, if not larger, than a bean. A little unusual irritation of my collar started it to swelling, and in a day or two it was as large as half an orange. I was very much alarmed, and was at a loss to do anything. I have derived so much benefit from the use of them myself that I am constantly advising others to use them. Recently I recommended them to an office boy for his father, who was distressed with a skin tumor. Two bottles of Cuticura Ointment and a box of Cuticura Resolvent and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment cured him. You never saw a more grateful man in your life.

"I am very much interested in another case where I have recommended Cuticura just now. My household's mother has a goitre which had reached a very dangerous point. The doctors told her that nothing could be done; that she could live only two or three weeks, and that she would die of strangulation. She was confined to her bed, and was unable to speak, when her daughter, at my suggestion, tried the effect of the Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent. Strange to say, she was very shortly relieved of the most distressing symptoms. The swelling seemed to be exterminated, and she is now able to be around her house, and can talk as well as ever.

"It seems to me that I have pretty good grounds for believing that Cuticura Remedies will prove successful in the most distressing forms of blood and skin humors, and if you wish to use my testimonial as herein indicated, I will writing that you should do so, with the privilege of revealing my name and address to such persons as may wish to substantiate the above statements by personal letters to me."
